The Leading Security & Safety Service To Your Industry

We provide a security solution that makes financial sense for your business

The aggregate industry faces many safety and security threats. It is simply the nature of the business. There are the threats of theft, vandalism or trespass, with aggregates also having to contend with a heightened duty of care for public and employee liability. Often sites can span over 1000's of acres, through remote routes. Manned security and passive CCTV provide a certain level of protection, but this is not enough to cover all areas at all times. We offer personalized solutions to meet the security needs of businesses just like yours. We deploy a range of products and services specifically designed to secure businesses working in the mining and materials sector. From remote monitoring of specific, contained areas, to a vast perimeter, we will ensure the highest level of protection.

Why us?

Many traditional forms of security, such as CCTV, only record events as they happen. By the time you become aware of the crime the damage is done. We offer a proactive solution, preventing crime, not just recording it. We provide extremely cost effective monitoring and remote control off-site activity, 24 hours a day. If your site perimeter is breached, our Communication Hub issues the intruders with a live personalized audio warning, deterring them before a crime is committed.

Don't just take our word for it

QUINN INDUSTRIAL HOLDINGS

“ We weren't convinced that a proactive monitoring CCTV system would work for us, but it has reached and exceeded our expectations. The system is now helping management and staff improve operations and productivity. As a company we always look to improve professionalism and the way we use technology. The Netwatch Group has embraced this for us and made a difference to the staff and management of the Quinn Group. From the beginning they got the whole company involved, everyone knew what was happening and why. The Quinn Group is a big part of the community and provides employment for many, we need to ensure we are working with the best partners to ensure a safe workplace and business continuity. ”
